'Most Successful Fair' Drawing to End Saturday

Loading One of the Troopships of the Sky

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH. FACETTE

Year's ago I believe there was a popular song or something about "The Bird on Mary's Hat"—that was in the days when it was very, very fashionable to wear bird's wings and imitation birds on hats as decoys instead of flowers and what-not like the present style.

But what I am getting at is an amusing incident that happened to Mrs. James Campbell, of Oak Street.

One day recently Mrs. Campbell reached home and was amazed when a blackbird or starling hopped from her hat to the floor, strutted across the room into another room and finally flew out a window.

Just when the bird alighted upon her hat, she did not know, but apparently it was taking a free ride and was ready to leave when Mrs. Campbell reached her destination.

One of the chief worries of George Gossard, secretary of the Fayette County Fair Board, during the Fair this week, has been to keep a supply of dimes on hand.

Time after time George has had to dispatch special messengers for dimes, and still more dimes, due to the 40 cent grandstand admission and the 15 cent gate admission, where a dime in change is necessary.

Three times while I was in George's office so far this week, he has been calling for dimes, and at one time business was suspended temporarily until the additional dimes could be obtained.

Talking with Attorney Ed. L. Bush on the streets about the explosion at the King Powder Co. near Lebanon he said:

"That reminds me that I saw one of the mills go up at Kings Mills about 25 years ago," said Ed, and then stated that he was talking with Harry Ford who resides some two miles from Kings Mills, and suddenly Ford said:

"There she goes!"

Ed looked in the direction indicated by Ford, and saw a huge puff of black smoke shoot high into the air over a small hill two miles distant, and a few seconds later a terrific detonation shook the countryside.

"That's just about as close as I want to be to a powder mill when it lets go," said Ed.

BOARD PLEASED AS PLANS LAID FOR NEXT YEAR

Friday Night's Crowd One Of Biggest Ever to Pack Into Grounds

CONTINUES ON SATURDAY

Attendance Figures Not Yet Complete But Board Hopes For Snug Profit

The most successful Fair in the history of the present Fayette County Fair Board will end Saturday night and if the weather is favorable during the closing afternoon and night, it hopes the event will leave a snug profit with which to expand facilities for continuation of even greater events, it was indicated Saturday.

Friday night's crowd was one of the largest ever seen on the grounds on a Friday night and coupled with the afternoon's large attendance, boosted the total attendance to almost a new record for the day.

Exciting finishes featured the four racing events Friday afternoon and a faster track was in prospect for Saturday afternoon, with four events, scheduled.

The Friday night crowd came early and remained late, and the Saturday night crowd is expected to be much greater than that of Friday night.

Fair officials Saturday expressed themselves as highly pleased with the results and are greatly encouraged to proceed on an even larger scale next year if war conditions permit.

Allied Air War Stepped Up; German Industries Smashed

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The RAF blasted the Rhineland industrial center of Duesseldorf for an hour last night and attacked targets in northern France and the low countries in a sustained offensive from which 31 planes failed to return, the Air Ministry announced today.

The raids were carried out in good weather, a communique said, and apparently were highly successful.

A "very strong force" of bombers was reported to have participated in the attack upon Duesseldorf—the 47th assault upon that city but the first since September 27, 1941. The raid represented a round trip of more than 600 miles.

Among the industrial plants situated at Duesseldorf are the Rheinmetall Iron and Steel Works, which compare in size and importance to the Krupp Armament Works, and the Vereinigte Stahlwerke (United Steel Works). The latter is one of the four biggest plants of its kind in Germany.

Targets attacked by British bombers and fighters last night in occupied territory included airdromes in the lowlands and railway yards at Caens and elsewhere in northern France. Six freight trains were reported shot up with cannonfire from low-flying raiders.

The night's plane losses included 30 bombers and one fighter.

'Ceaseless, Violent Battles' Still Raging, However, as Russians Reinforced

COSSACKS SLASH TO FRAY

'Red Army Has No Right To Retreat Any Longer' Soviet Chief Says

By ROGER D. GREENE
(By The Associated Press)

Britain's campaign to scourge Germany city by city hit the big war foundries center of Duesseldorf in the heart of the Rhineland before dawn today, while in Russia the Germans surged ever deeper into the Caucasus.

A bulletin from Nazi field headquarters reported that German troops had captured the Caucasian rail junction of Salsk, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, completing a second cut in the line from the great southern Caucasus oil fields to Stalingrad.

In the Don River bend, northwest of Stalingrad, the German command reported a "ceaseless, violent battle" was raging and indicated that the Russians were sending up huge-scale reinforcements.

"Air units attacked day and night unloading troops from trains as well as transports by train, roads and waterways," the German communique said.

On the Soviet front, bitter all-night fighting raged in three main sectors—around Kleitskaya, 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, scene of the bloody nine-day-old battle of the Don River bend; at Tsimlyansk, 120 miles southwest of Stalingrad; and below Bataisk in the Caucasus.

Front-line dispatches said Cossack cavalymen were lashing savagely at the Germans while Nazi and Red Army tanks crushed hundreds of acres of wheat and flames scarred the countryside in the widening battle for Caucasian oil, railways and seaports.

Russian Marines and shore batteries were reported in action southwest of Bataisk, 15 miles

Japs Are Extending Hold On South Pacific Bases; Land Fighting 'Static'

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The Japanese have extended their hold on the Solomon Islands east of New Guinea by establishing themselves on Guadalcanal Island, a suitable site for air bases, General MacArthur's Headquarters reported today.

The disclosure was made in a communique relating that Japanese installations at Kukum on the north shore of the island were attacked yesterday by Allied planes which also damaged a large enemy cargo ship offshore.

Other bombers operating far to the northwest attacked and "probably hit" a Japanese cruiser in the Banda Sea south of Ambonia in the Dutch East Indies, the bulletin said.

On the Papuan Peninsula of New Guinea, where Allied and Japanese patrols have clashed recently within 60 miles of Port Moresby, advanced Allied base, the land situation was described as "static," but Allied bombers raided the Japanese-occupied village of Buna in the Gona Mission area and started two large fires.

A single Japanese plane dropped one bomb yesterday a few miles from the village of Mossman on the northeastern Australian coast north of Townsville, but damage was minor, the communique said.

Ship Sinkings

(By The Associated Press)

The Associated Press count of announced Allied and neutral ship losses in the western Atlantic since Dec. 7 was 406 today, with yesterday's Navy announcement of the sinking of a Panamanian vessel and disclosure of Brazil's 11th ship loss of the war.

Sinkings announced in July totaled 79. This represented successful U-boat attacks over a period of many weeks.

In a message to the Argentine Navy ministry, that country's tanker Tacito said it had rescued 17 survivors of the Brazilian freighter Barbacena (4,772 tons) off the northern coast of Brazil. The message said nothing of missing crewmen.

Jap Fifth Column in U. S. Is Trapped By FBI with Plans To Aid Invasion

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The presence in the United States of a band recruited by Japan's Black Dragon Society to aid a possible invasion has been disclosed by the FBI with the announcement of the arrest of an alleged organizer for the group, which claims 100,000 members.

The prisoner, Mimo De Guzman, 42, a Filipino, of (1236 Euclid Ave.) Washington D. C., was described by the FBI as an active figure in a drive to form a fifth column among Negroes in America.

P. E. Foxworth, assistant FBI director, said yesterday in telling of the Filipino's arrest, that one of the stated purposes of the group was to assist the Japanese in an invasion of the United States.

Foxworth said De Guzman served in the U. S. Navy from 1918 to 1930, had been dishonorably discharged from the coast guard, used some 19 false names, had a long criminal record and was wanted in Washington for violating the postal laws.

He was arrested Thursday evening and charged with failing to return his draft questionnaire.

Foxworth said De Guzman informed his recruits that "the Japanese will supply you with rifles when the time for invasion comes," but to buy and store all the firearms they could to prepare for "the day."

De Guzman, the FBI said, was associated with Leonard (Robert O.) Jordan, Harlem Negro leader, of the Ethiopian-Pacific league, who recently was imprisoned for not notifying the alien registration board of an address change.

FINANCIAL POLICY OF BRICKER SCORED BY POLITICAL FOES

Governor Charged with Holding Money for State At Expense of People

COLUMBUS, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Two of Ohio's five Democratic gubernatorial aspirants unleashed campaign attacks today, but neither aimed at primary opponents.

Both former Congressman John McSweeney of Wooster and Walter E. Heer of Columbus charged Republican Governor John W. Bricker was building up a huge state treasury surplus to further political ambitions.

Heer, Franklin County Democratic chairman, said in opening his campaign at Cleveland last night, "I propose to bring to this state a government operated for the sole benefit of Ohioans and not for records to which I might point with pride at a Republican National Convention."

McSweeney asserted in a formal statement that Bricker was creating "a huge surplus of tax money which he hopes to build into a monument to further his political fortunes."

He stated that taxpayers were being subjected to "double taxation" because after paying into the state treasury "more than is actually required," they were forced to "turn to special levies and bond issues to carry on their school programs" and other operations.

GOVERNMENT WHEAT GOES TO LIVESTOCK

Price May Take Further Drop To Compare with Corn

By FRANKLIN MULLIN
CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Government owned wheat, accumulated through recent years of bumper crops, will be pushed into livestock consumption even more vigorously and at lower prices in the near future, trade experts reported today.

The government has been offering this feed wheat since mid-January at prices substantially below the market and has succeeded in disposing of 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 bushels. This is only a little more than third of the amount it originally hoped to move in the first six months of the year.

For some time the CCC has been offering feed wheat at around 89 cents a bushel in the Chicago territory. This has been slightly higher than the price of corn. The law permits sales of wheat as low as 85 per cent of the corn parity price and government agents now are preparing a schedule of prices, set up by counties similar to the corn loan program, which will permit a reduction in feed wheat prices. These reductions will vary according to locality but in Chicago lowering of as much as 5 to 6 cents is possible.

Efforts to move feed wheat into consumption are being pushed by the CCC because if the need for storage space for the new crop and the general recognition that corn supplies must be conserved.

FIVE OF GENERALS CAN SEAL VERDICT

Announcement of Fate of Spies Likely Next Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Five of seven generals trying the eight Nazi saboteurs suspects can seal their fate.

When President Roosevelt created the military commission he ordered that "the concurrence of at least two-thirds of the members of the commission present shall be necessary for a conviction or sentence."

But, both as commander in chief and as president, Mr. Roosevelt has the power to change the sentence, and it was understood that any announcements of a verdict—possibly next week—will come from him.

The president has directed the commission to send its verdict "directly" to me for my action thereon.

COLUMBUS CLEANUP BRINGS 40 ARRESTS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Mayor Floyd F. Green said today that 200 of Columbus' 270 fur-loughed policemen and firemen would return to their jobs next week as a result of approval by the State Board of tax appeals of a $280,000 city bond refunding program.

The board authorized the refunding yesterday as the city, handicapped by curtailment of the police force, pressed its drive on vice and arrested 29 suspected prostitutes and 11 men associates—the biggest roundup on record here.

The vice squad was enlarged to 17 after the army threatened to call in federal officers if local police failed to cope with the situation.

FIRST PRIZE 4-H CLUB CALF AT FAIR HERE BRINGS $21.75

ANNUAL SALE IS BIG FEATURE OF FRIDAY'S FAIR

'Ceiling' Holds Down the Top Prices for Choice Baby Beef

Sale of the 4-H beef club steers at auction, an annual event of the Fayette County Fair for a number of years, took place Friday, with a sizeable crowd of buyers and spectators present.

The Producers Cooperative Association purchased the first prize steer at $21.75 per 100 pounds, and Jimmie Hagler, the owner, pocketed $230.55 for the 1,060 pound black Polled Angus steer.

Jimmie's steer won first over 30 others exhibited by boys and girls from throughout the county.

The Producers Cooperative Association also purchased the pen of 4-H fat lambs and first prize pen of barrows.

The "ceiling" price for meat prevented the top steers from selling at considerably more than the amount paid, it was indicated.

Following is the complete list of calf club winners, how they placed, who purchased the steers, amount per 100 pounds, weight of the animal and total amount paid for each steer:

Wheat Insurance Is Recommended By County's War Board Chairman

Because a steady farm income is important to the national welfare during wartime, the county AAA chairman, Harry Silcott, today urged local farmers to take advantage of the new three-year insurance contract now being offered to the nation's wheat growers.

"Farmers who line themselves with Uncle Sam now by insuring their wheat crops will be definitely rendering themselves and their country a valuable service," he said.

Silcott pointed out that reduced farm income, due to wheat crop failure, might impair future farm efficiency and production.

"Certainly," he asserted, "the United States, and its Allies, cannot afford to have any breaks in the farm production line."

The new three-year wheat crop insurance contract, available to farmers for the first time, guarantees either 50 or 75 percent of the farm's average wheat yield against all losses caused by unavoidable hazards such as winter-kill, storm, insects, plant disease, and other unavoidable causes of loss.

One of the advantages of the new three-year insurance plan pointed out by the county AAA head is the fact that even though the farmer suffers losses prior to the termination of his three-year contract his farm's average yield on which the insured production is based remains at the same high level throughout the time that the contract is in force.

Closing date for 1943 crop insurance applications is September 15. Full details of the new insurance plan may be obtained at the county AAA office.

SWEET CORN PACKING TO START WEDNESDAY

Sweet corn packing at the Fayette Canning plant is scheduled to start in a small way on Wednesday of the coming week, and it is expected that within a few days after the opening the plant will be running at capacity.

The pack will require several weeks, and tomatoes and pumpkin will also be packed at the plant.

DOWN ON THE FARM

By THOMAS E. BERRY

KEEP THE FAT HOGS COOL

That's a wise thing to do at this season of the year, when the temperature and humidity are both high, and a fat hog, some distance from shade and water may perish before it can get back to them. We lost one of our largest hogs that way a few years ago. At first we thought it had cholera but it didn't and no more of them died.

A report has just come to my desk of a farmer in Ross County, in southern Ohio, who lost several hogs from "overheating" as his veterinarian expressed it. "These hogs had been in the habit of going to a water hole in the middle of the day to keep cool, and when I found them the hole was dry, and part of the hogs were dead," he reported.

SUN SHADES FOR HOGS—

You see a lot of them in the corn belt at this season of the year. Most of them are made by setting short posts into the ground about three feet; making a light frame on the tops of them and then covering this with straw or new mown hay, and sometimes bundled fodder. A sunshade like that protects the hogs from the intense heat of the sun at mid-day, and when, if it has no sides, there is usually a cool breeze blowing under it. A structure like this doesn't take long to make, is inexpensive and very valuable, for it will keep the fat porkers cool and prevent heat stroke; and at the same time make it possible for you to lower the cost of production of pork, for a hog that is comfortable will make more economical gain than one that is too hot.

The self-feeder and water tank should be close to the sunshade so on hot days your hogs can give their entire time to the economical production of pork, and stay close home.

SALT—Did you know that if there is plenty of salt in the ration of a hog that it is not apt to get too hot? This has been definitely proven many times.

I make it a practice to put about two tablespoonfuls of salt in each two gallon bucket of slop for my hogs. This adds to the palatability of the ration and tends to prevent the animals from getting too hot and adds a very essential mineral, for salt is necessary in the blood stream and in the last step in digestion known as assimilation, where food material is changed to flesh.

OIL MEAL—I always add about a tablespoon of oil meal to

Hog Producers in Position To 'Jockey' Market, Belief

Confusion in the livestock markets and on the farms and ranges as seen by Frank DeWitt, veteran Fayette County stock buyer and market analyst, as traceable to Uncle Sam's attempt to hold down the cost of living and at the same time provide meat for boys in uniform of this country and its allies at the war.

Severe pressure on hog prices, especially the heavier, lard-yielding kinds is cited by Frank DeWitt as evidence of the instability of the packing house situation. Nothing, he says in the following article in which the views expressed are his own and do not necessarily reflect those of the Record-Herald, is predictable except that fed cattle are running out. That, he believes is the explanation to the rising cattle market. The test on hogs, he says, will come during the 60 days following September when "hogs must go to town;" meanwhile, he declares, producers are in a position to jockey with the market.

His article follows:
By FRANK DEWITT
The livestock industry is in a veritable stew, for which official interference is entirely responsible. The OPA magnates have brewed a dish of uncertainty and dissatisfaction that is not palatable. Monkeying with the law of "Supply and Demand" will bear fruit, and the taste will be far from satisfying.

Washington is yelling frantically for cheaper meats with no response, retail prices being unchanged. Packing plant employees are yelling for still higher wages and getting all they ask. Groups of small packers threaten suspending operations in the face of an impending fall and early winter run of hog, because of impaired processing facilities. Some of these packers have already banked their fires, dispersing working forces which cannot be readily reorganized as the men have no difficulty in securing government jobs.

Severe pressure on the price list was effective last week, especially in the case of sows and heavy lard yielding hogs. Producers are in a position to jockey with the hog market, which is exactly what they should do. Eventually both old and new crop hogs must go to town. The test will come during the sixty days following September.

A gradually rising cattle market does not require explanation. Finished steers are rapidly disappearing, a few weeks hence they will disappear reducing consumers to packages of common and inferior products. Cattle feeders, realizing that beef marketing has been reduced to a desperate gamble, are not laying in thin cattle as no replacement

Unbeaten Wilkin Wins 2-Year-Old Pacing Stake Friday

-Spying- On Sports By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Connie Mack comes up with the idea that the major leagues will have to reduce their player limits next season "for the simple reason that there won't be enough players." ... Connie figures that such a reduction, particularly in pitching staffs, will improve the game. ... Pacific Coast League tried cutting the limit this year and about the only result was a phony "suspension" every time a player was hurt so another guy could be put on the active list. ... Our idea is that enough minor leagues will fold up before next summer that there will still be a plentiful supply of players still out of the army but that the clubs likely will have to take a few that wouldn't ordinarily be major leaguers.

Feminine Figures
Bob Hoey of the Ohio State Journal tells one about a feminine baseball fan who protested that his story of a game had credited the Columbus pitcher with too many strikeouts. ... Bob looked up his score book and verified that Preacher Roe had whiffed eleven rival batsmen that particular night. ... "Yes, he did," admitted the fan, "but at the same time he struck out twice himself. So doesn't that from eleven leave nine?" ... Maybe she had something there.

Service Dept.
Capt. Joe Dasher of Fort Leavenworth, Kas., speaks seven languages and has a working knowledge of 13 others, which makes him a pretty valuable man to the army intelligence department. ... But so far he hasn't had much use for still another language which he has used for ten years calling the plays to football scribes in the Pitt Stadium press box. ... Lake Russell, former Mercer U. football coach now stationed in Iceland, got the surprise of his life recently when he approached a sentry and instead of hearing the usual "Who goes there?" the challenge was "Hello, coach, pass by." ... Sure enough, the sentry was a Georgia boy.

13th Victory Over Braves For the Reds

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—(P)—The most one-sided club-against-club series in the senior loop continued today with the Cincinnati Reds trying to beat the Boston Braves for the 14th time in 16 contests.

Manny Salvo, who won one of the Braves' victories, was the seventh-placers' probable hurler against Elmer Riddle.

Gene Thompson hurled three-hit ball to beat Boston yesterday for his fourth victory against four defeats, but Joe Beggs pitched the final frame after Junior loaded the bases with none out on two walks and Eddie Miller's double.

Beggs made the next three batters hit his sinker ball into the dirt, but two runs scored on putouts.

Max Marshall and Gee Walker, with three hits each, led a 10-hit onslaught against Tom Early and Johnny Hutchings of the Braves.

Owner Harold Laymon At Reins in Second Race of Career, Too

Second Division of Stake Won by Filly May Newman in Identical Time of 2:12 and Flip of Coin decides Honor—
J. Mack W. Wins Three-Year-Old Trot and Jessie Nutonia Takes 2:20 Pace

It was a Washington C. H. man and his horse that had the old grandstand reverberating with the cheers of more than 2,000 men, women and children as Harold Laymon drove Wilkin, the bay colt of McKinney Guy that he bought at Lexington last fall to a two-heat victory in the first division of the stake for two-year-old pacers at the Fair Friday afternoon.

It was the second race for the colt and the second race for the driver—and neither has yet been beaten. The pair made their debut at Marion earlier in the month—and won in straight heats.

The other division of the stake was won by May Newman, a brown filly by Martinique, driven by Milton Carpenter. She, too, won in straight heats, the class of her field that day.

Under the rules for the stake, the division winner with the best time automatically became the race winner. But, Wilkin and May Newman paced their fastest miles in exactly the same time—2:12; so, Laymon and Carpenter were called to the stands where the honor was to be decided by the flip of a coin. That was one of the rules also. And, Laymon won and was awarded the Record-Herald trophy. Both drivers responded with a few words over the loud speaker.

O. C. Belt, the presiding judge said Wilkin in complimenting Laymon after the race: "I have seen a lot of young pacers in my time but this I believe is the best I have ever seen."

Here is the fractional time of the fastest mile of each.
Wilkin :33 1:06 1:40 2:12
May Newman :32 1:05 1:39 2:12

Wilkin came the last part of the mile the faster of the two but the filly, May Newman, had the early speed. The two are entered in a similar stake at the Greene County Fair at Xenia next week.

First Soldiers Are Chosen for All-Star Game

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(P)—Four soldiers, one a commissioned officer and all with experience in the National Football League, are the first players selected by Col. Bob Neyland, once of Tennessee, for the all-army grid machine which will participate in eight games for army emergency relief.

Colonel Neyland picked Corp. John Mellus of Villanova and the New York Giants; Lieut. Mike Gussie, West Virginia University and the Brooklyn Dodgers; Corp. Ben Kish, Pittsburgh University and the Dodgers; and Pvt. Michael (Mike) Basca of Villanova and the Philadelphia Eagles.

The players were instructed to report to the Eastern Training camp at Yale University next week in preparation for the Sept. 12 game with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds.

A squad similar to Newland's will train in California and will be coached by Maj. Wallace Wade, who tutored Duke's Rose Bowl team of last winter. All the players will be chosen from the 1,800 grid stars in the army, 86 of whom have had pro experience.

Oil meal is high in protein too, and it is a good buy today if you had no other reason for buying it other than to increase the protein in the ration.

Some oil meal is especially good in the ration of brood sows, about to farrow, for constipation

"DEADLY NIGHT-SHADE"

That's the way a very good corn belt farmer just described night-shade, a common corn belt garden weed. "This plant looks something like pig weed, but the under side of the leaves are purple," he said. "When you are weeding the garden, and throwing the weeds over to the hogs, look out for night-shade, for it will kill your hogs," he added.

Small cockle burrs, that are just coming through the ground are fatal to pigs, too. Did you know that?

New Coach Hired At Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Aug. 1.—(P)—Roy D. McKinley, coach at Fredricktown in Knox County for the last five years, has been hired as head football and assistant basketball coach at Wilmington High School, succeeding Charles Ramey, who was hired as Ashland, Ky., coach.

A graduate of Muskingum College, McKinley's last three football teams lost but two games and his cage team won three consecutive county championships.

Miss Mary Kinzel, Wilmington, was employed to teach elementary classes, succeeding William Bales, who resigned to enter defense work.

Guns-Planes-Tanks QUICK!

"LISTEN, Bud—glad to see you getting along. Sure, I know you've had to tighten your belt—for a long time you took it on the chin, and now you're getting good pay.

"That's O.K. with us soldiers. You've got your part to play, just as we have ours. You've got to make the stuff—and we've got to deliver it.

"But just a second... maybe it's none of our business, but, say, are you throwing your money around?

"Here's something straight from the shoulder. You see, we soldiers want to feel that we're not fighting alone—that you're behind us—every one of you, man, woman and youngster.

"How? Listen...

"How many WAR BONDS are you buying? Are you in on the Payroll Savings Plan? If you're not, you'll get in—won't you? This is your war—isn't it? We're fighting for you, aren't we?

"So look... When they come around to you, at your job, and ask you to put aside TEN PERCENT of your earnings every payday—a dime from every dollar—you'll do it, won't you—for us?

"You'll get a WAR BOND every time you've saved $18.75—and that Bond will build up, year by year, to $25 in ten years.

"So you're helping us and protecting yourself at the same time by your savings. Can't beat that, can you?

"We've got to have guns and planes, and tanks, and ships and bullets—and you've got to pay for them—from your own, voluntary WAR BOND savings.

"Invest a dime from every dollar in us—and keep it up, week after week, month after month. Give us the things we need to fight—that's all we ask. Then count on us to blast hell out of the Japs, the Huns, and their whole bloodthirsty gang.

"O.K., Bud—now let's go!"

5 REASONS WHY

1. By investing in War Bonds you help provide the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships we must have to survive and conquer.
2. You prove that you are a patriotic American.
3. You aid the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.
4. You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.
5. You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $25 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

MORE ABOUT RUBBER

In view of the many irresponsible rumors and statements concerning the rubber situation in this country, it is interesting to note a recent news release from the Standard Oil Company of Indiana which makes an effective denial of the rumor that the oil industry is seeking to block production of artificial rubber from alcohol made from farm crops, in order to create a rubber monopoly for itself.

It is likely, the release points out, that rubber can be made from oil more cheaply than from alcohol. But today rubber is urgently needed no matter what the cost of production. Present indications are that all the rubber to be made from oil will be required for military purposes. Thus, if civilian cars are to be kept running, it will be necessary to produce additional rubber from alcohol.

The very existence of the oil industry depends largely upon automobile transportation. The oil industry is in business to sell oil, not rubber. Its commercial interest in rubber is confined to the fact that cars must be kept rolling if an adequate market for oil is to be maintained. It is only logical for the oil industry, in general, to favor rubber production from any and every practicable source.

WAR CONTRACTS RACKET

If the action of the House in prohibiting commission fees on government contracts goes through and becomes law, one racket will have been stopped or discouraged.

Such legislation should not have been necessary. The Army and Navy and other departments should be able to award their business without dealing through a middleman who pockets a lot of extra gravy. Certain individuals, some formerly connected with the Army or Navy have been getting big fees for their alleged influence and efforts to land big war material contracts for industries.

Chairman Vinson, Georgia, of the Naval Committee, cited three Washington firms which, he said, netted for themselves $2,000,000 on such contracts in six months. That amount must be added to government costs and taxes.

He also advised the Navy to stop officers from accepting invitations from these agents. A nice dinner and cocktails may be very influential in gaining friendly consideration of rich contracts. Winning this war depends upon the home effort, as well as the foreign, and this includes efficient, economical and honest handling of the vast production business.

Flashes of Life

NEW YORK—The composer of such plaintive tunes as "Lover, Come Back To Me" says romance in songs is out for the duration so far as the soldier is concerned.

"The need is for songs that will arouse the nation's armed forces, not soothe them," declared Sigmund Romberg as leading American song writers gathered to discuss a program for creating war airs.

"War is a bloody and realistic business. Songs to inspire the fighting mood, rather than dreams of the girls they left behind, are what we now need."

Beautiful—But Dumb!

ANDARKO, Okla.—Near the front door of the Karl Douglass store there is a life-size paper cut-out of a beautiful woman. Some of the customers have asked the manager to remove the lady. They say she is so life-like they speak to her every morning.

Who's That Knockin' At My Door?

FREDONIA, Kas.—A young housewife owns a small dog named Satan, who paws the screen door whenever he wants in. The other day the door rattled and the lady, busy with her housework, called without looking up: "Go away, Satan." And a voice replied: "I'm sorry, madam, but this is not Satan. This is the pastor."

3. Can you correctly repeat the first two lines of Longfellow's poem, "The Village Blacksmith"?

Today's Horoscope

The person who has a birthday today has perseverance, deep affections, and keen foresight. His or her judgment of others is keen, and their motives are easily discerned. A need for prudence and caution is indicated. The next year will be a happy one, and successful, although an unexpected loss or worry may arise. Avoid hasty conduct and extravagance in pleasure. Push business to the utmost. Born on this date a child will meet with a great deal of success and popularity, but expenditure, especially on friends and pleasure, should be watched. Elderly relatives will prove very helpful.

Hints on Etiquette

Don't ask your soldier lad home on furlough a lot of questions about his job. He may be tempted to disclose some information to you, in confidence, that would be of aid and comfort to the enemy, so don't "put him on the spot," as it were.

Horoscope for Sunday

Those who have birthdays today are forceful, warm-hearted and easy going. They have executive ability and flexible minds that adjust themselves to change. They are fluent in speech and attract others with their vivacious personalities. They also have a great love for comfort, ease and luxury. Being of an optimistic, idealistic and philosophical turn of mind, the affairs of these people will prosper in the next year. They should, however, guard against impulsive changes and accidents. A fine, noble character will be manifested by the child who is born on this date. He or she will do much good in the world, but a somewhat fiery temper will need restraint. Good fortune is foreseen.

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

State Secretary Cordell Hull's recent world-wide broadcast apropos the war and the kind of peace he hopes for, as a sequel to it, appears to have made a highly favorable impression of international proportions—though of course not including the Axis powers.

Comment from countries in arms against the totalitarians naturally greeted it immediately as a masterpiece. Folk in the areas that the Germans, Japanese and Italians have overrun are quoted similarly in so far as they're able to express themselves. Dispatches from neutral sources also generally expressed approval of the American cabinet chief's utterances.

A few guesses are hazarded to the effect that the talk can't have been without its appeal also to a good many Italians, who are well known to be unenthusiastic with Fuehrer Hitler.

An occasional voice suggests also that the speech may have made a few converts among enlightened Germans, assuming a sprinkling of them to be left in the Fatherland, where there once was quite a liberal element of yore. Nobody is very hopeful concerning the Japs, however. It's the pretty solid consensus that their militarists will have to be completely extinguished to quiet them. Still, that wouldn't be such a chore, with the Germans disposed of.

Secretary Hull's address was no surprise to anyone at all familiar with his long career in congress and at the head of the state department.

An Internationalist

In the best sense, Hull always has been an ideal internationalist. This is not to say that he has been anything but a true blue American. His aim, though, has been the establishment of the friendliest sort of relations between and among the whole world's peoples. Creation of them, by means of his widely advertised "reciprocal treaties," was the nub of the policy he had in mind as chief of President Roosevelt's foreign affairs office. He made a good start at it too—and then along came overseas totalitarianism, culminating in the war, knocking his program kiting.

Nevertheless, Cordell's trying to proposition mainly. The secretary plans a world court and an international policing system to enforce its mandates and suppress a possibly occasional outbreak of global outlawry, like the present one, but his essential notion is to make mundane life so pleasant and all around profitable that nobody will want to do any fighting—just as you don't fight with your next door neighbor—and, if anybody does start a fight, he is a criminal and the whole neighborhood squelches him in short order.

There is just one flaw in this program. Secretary Hull might be able to put it across. He has remarkable ability and boundless enthusiasm. He'd toiled tirelessly for his objective in congress and went right ahead with his work in the cabinet, but his difficulty was that he didn't get into the cabinet quite soon enough; the world-wide explosion popped before he could get fairly started on realization of his scheme.

A New Start

Now he'll have to begin again when this war is over.

Hull has a lot of experience. He will know how to go about it. If he made any previous mistakes, he will understand how to correct them. He can point morals to burn.

Unfortunately he is 71 years old.

Will Hull survive this war if it is a long one? And, even if he does, will he continue to have the stamina to reorganize the world on the basis he argues for? That is the hades of wars, as they follow one another.

A country gets into a war. It's statesmen learn a great deal about how to prevent them from ever getting into another one. But they pass from the scene before the next one eventuates.

Take 1962!

Who'll have any personal recollection of this year?

There will be huge improvements in armaments and things, but how about improvements in international human nature? This is the meanest war we've had yet, isn't it? But we're going to have no more, what?

Subsequent Hitlers and Mussolinis and Hirohitos will be internationally pinched and chucked in the house of horrors before they get started, hey?

Well, will there be any Cordell Hull to attend to it? Believe me, I don't know!

Diet and Health

Function of the State As Guardian of Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I HAVE just attended the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Connecticut State Medical Society, the oldest organization of its kind which has a record of regular annual meetings since its establishment.

In that 150 years the organized medical profession has done more than any other group to guide the state towards better health.

It is interesting and valuable to note the activities which this state group has found during its 150 years of existence to be primary requisites to health—activities over which they believe the State should preside.

Better Pre-Natal Care

First, it is to see that the babies born in the State are healthy. Prior to it is necessary to see that they are born alive. In Connecticut more babies survive birth than in any other place in the world.

During the past 14 years, 50 per cent more babies' lives have been saved, and this saving is ascribed to better pre-natal care for all mothers, rich, poor and in the middle brackets.

After the child is born, the care and especially the diet of the infant should be supervised. The baby's weight should be noted regularly as an index to its normal growth. Children in Connecticut are all required to be vaccinated against smallpox and diphtheria before entering school. (Of course, at an earlier age is really best but at least the State can require parents to have their children vaccinated before entering school.)

Mothers and fathers do not wait until the baby is sick before calling a doctor. There are clinics for regular examinations to ward off sickness. Especially emphasized are dental clinics. It has been found that dental decay can start as early as two years.

One child out of every four has some kind of eye trouble and attention to this makes for better scholarship in school.

State sanitaria for tuberculosis are considered a duty of the commonwealth. Connecticut is one of the few states that have enough beds to take care of all their tuberculous citizens.

Food Inspections

Inspection of dairy plants and food handlers insures a pure supply of milk and meat, also vegetables free from contamination. More than 300,000 laboratory tests of food and of taverns, grocery stores, restaurants and farms are made annually at the state laboratory—an examination every minute and a half.

Hospitals for the mentally afflicted were established early in Connecticut.

Industrial plants are all required to have examinations of their workers made regularly, an especially thorough one being made before employment. First aid and protection for those who labor is a prime necessity.

All persons applying for a license for marriage are examined before the license is issued.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. S.: I am craving for sweets an indication of diabetes? 2. Do swollen gums around the teeth indicate a shortage of vitamin C? Why do they seem worse when lemonade is drunk?

Answer: 1. A craving for sweets is not a symptom of diabetes. 2. If regardless of the fact that one has been on a balanced diet, including the citrus fruits, the gums are still swollen it is very likely to be a symptom of vitamin C lack. A much more likely cause, however, is pyorrhea. Lemonade hurts because it is sour and stings the open places.

CHAPTER FORTY TWO

"DID YOU have a nice time at the picnic?" Miss Martha asked, cutting into her fried egg. "I wanted to ask you last night, but it was pretty late when you got home, so I let you go on to bed without bothering you."

"The day was perfect," said Dian, "so far as weather conditions were concerned. And the water was fine!"

Miss Martha eyed her niece quizzically.

"Yes, go on," she said. "I take it you didn't have a nice time."

"The first part of the day was lovely," said Dian. "But it didn't wear so well. I'm afraid I called Claire Lester by her right name—and as a result she's off me for life."

"That's nothing to grieve about," Miss Martha said. "I've been off Claire ever since she was big enough to make eyes at a male. The men were all right, weren't they?"

"They looked wonderful, and weren't bad some other ways—but being men, they fell for Claire's line and her act like a ton of brick."

"Men!" Miss Martha ate in silence for a moment. And then, with elaborate casualness, she said, "Speaking of men, Jerome Carr wants to drive me out to his house this afternoon. You know he's furnished all the bedrooms in Early American, and he wants my advice about curtains and bedspreads."

"How splendid!" said Dian. "You're going, of course."

"Well—yes—I think I am. After all, a man does need a woman's advice when he's furnishing a home," Miss Martha seemed a bit fussed. "If you'd treated Jerome half way decently, Dian, he would have asked you to go out with him."

"O, well, my loss, darling, is your gain," said Dian. "Have a good time, and be sure and don't let him use too much pink. You know you hate pink—even if it is supposed to make us women look younger; reflected light, and all that sort of thing."

Miss Martha warmed to the subject. "I think apple green would be nice for at least one of the rooms," she said. "Especially that big front room over the library."

"It's called the master bedroom" on the blueprints," Dian said. "Yes, apple green would be perfect. It's your favorite color, isn't it?" "Yes," said Miss Martha. "And yours also. So I thought if you finally decided to marry Jerome, it would be nice to have the color you like in the bedroom you'll probably occupy."

"And if you decide to marry him," said Dian, "the apple green will be there waiting for you. Advice that color by all means—as it suits us both." She got up then. "I'm going now, darling," she said. "Oh, yes—suggest maroon hangings for the library—and a big, rich-looking rug of maroon and tan and deep yellow."

"But I was thinking of blue for the library," said Miss Martha.

"No, blue is depressing at times. Maroons and tans would be better for a room in which one likes to relax and read."

"What time will you be home?" Miss Martha called, as Dian started out the back door.

"I haven't the slightest idea," Dian replied. "Once I get started on the work I have in mind, I'll probably forget the passing of time. In fact, I may stay through the evening, and drive home after dark."

"But what about your dinner?" "I'll open a can of something I'm taking along some biscuits to heat—and there's strawberry jam, you know. Also some coffee. Don't worry, darling. I shan't starve."

Miss Martha shook her head slowly. "Sometimes," she said, "I get the feeling that already you're more of a spinster than I am. And I don't like it, Dian—honest I don't."

"Maybe I am," said Dian. She came back to where her aunt was sitting. "But don't let it get you down. Some baby girls are booked for spinsterhood from the day of their birth. I probably am one of them." She kissed the top of Miss Martha's head. "But one can be a success even with spinsterhood as a career. You've been pretty fine at it yourself, darling."

"Oh, go 'long with you!" said Miss Martha. "I've been a spinster from necessity, and for no other reason. You might as well know that here and now!"

"Of course!" Dian patted the older woman's cheek. "But it won't be long now!"

Miss Martha pushed Dian away from her. "What on earth are you talking about?" she demanded. "Think it over, darling—think it over!"

Dian ran across the kitchen, paused at the door to wave her hand in farewell, and then hurried out to the car.

For once, Betty started without a moment's hesitation; and presently Dian was once more on her way to the farm. She couldn't bear the idea of staying in town. She didn't want to see or hear from any of the three other parts of the foursome—the foursome that had proved to be such a flop. She wanted to get away from Bill, and Paul and Claire—and leave them to work out their own salvations. And I hope they do it in fear and trembling," she thought, "like perfect idiots; and a girl without a brain in her head. To heck with them all!"

Dian kicked on the gas, and Betty slipped up her heels.

Away they went.

And Dian, remembering what her Grandfather Weston had once said to her, "Don't stick around brooding over things," were his words. "It's bad for one. Get out—take a long walk—get busy at some sort of physical activity—go for a swim—or come out here and talk it over with your old grandpappy!" And she had usually ended up talking it over with Grandpappy! And now, as the car sped onward, she wished with all her being that Grandfather Weston were out at the farm—waiting to take her in his arms and listen to her pour out all that was heavy upon her mind and her heart.

Back in his bedroom at the Ardendale inn, Bill Rollins awoke to the sound of a tap upon his door.

He sat up and brushed his hair from his eyes.

"Yes?" he said.

"Telegram, Mr. Rollins," a bell-boy replied.

"Okay! Be right with you," Bill got out of bed and padded across the room. He opened the door, took the message, found a tip for the boy, and then walked over to the window. "What a devilish day," he thought. "Too bad we didn't have this sort of weather yesterday, considering how everything turned out."

He tore open the yellow envelope and drew out the message. He had just finished reading it, had just said "Oh, boy!" when the telephone bell rang. He stuffed the telegram into his pajama pocket, and picked up the receiver.

Latin American Movies Are Hot Potatoes

By TED GILL

(Wide World News Service)

HOLLYWOOD—Having burned their fingers badly on several Latin American pictures that a lot of people both north and south of the border would like to forget, the movies are coming out now with a selection of hand-picked films they hope will be both authentic and interesting enough to make up for past mistakes.

Reverberating blasts from several of their Latin cinematic productions, which Americans would call "stinkers," still can be detected around some film lots on days when the wind is in the right direction, but the atmosphere generally is clearing.

That's because studios not only have learned the necessity for keeping their films authoritative as possible, but they also were quick to seek the guidance and comfort of the newly established motion picture society for the Americas.

Headed by Walter F. Wanger, the society, with which many of the most prominent film producers in Hollywood are affiliated, acts as a liaison between the motion picture industry and the coordinator of inter-American affairs. Experts on Latin-American problems are its constant advisers.

More than half a dozen feature-length pictures with a Spanish flavor now are in production, while two or three score film shorts, some in technicolor and covering various phases of Latin American life, also are in the making.

"It's All True," being produced by Orson Welles, and "For Whom the Bell Tolls" now before Paramount cameras, head the list.

Crossing language boundaries, Welles' epic will consist of one large sequence already filmed in Mexico, another on various sections of Brazil, with the prospect that additional sequences may be shot in Peru and other sections of South America.

Much of the "Bells" Story, authored by Ernest Hemingway, currently is being photographed near Sonora, Calif. It is located nearly two miles up in the high Sierras, which closely resemble the Guadarama Mountains of Spain. It was there that much of the setting takes place during the Spanish Revolution that preceded the outbreak of the present world conflict.

Navy Chases Subs Away From Caribbean Convoys

By E. V. W. JONES

ABOARD A U. S. WARSHIP IN THE CARIBBEAN SEA ON A RECENT DATE—(AP)—Great convoys of merchant ships are plowing with relative safety through these once dangerous waters.

United States navy men are successfully matching with and out-manoeuvring undersea marauders that littered the sea with sunken ships in days before conveying began.

This reporter and an Associated Press photographer, Earl Shugars, are aboard a swift, hard-hitting warship which escorted the first Caribbean convoy to its destination and is returning with another to a United States port.

Lieut. George N. Hagerman of Richmond, Va., flushed a submarine by deciding that an attack could be expected from a certain quarter if an Axis craft was in the vicinity. Factors that led to his decision cannot be responded but locating devices responded. The ship went into action with its depth charges.

Officers do not claim to have sunk or even damaged a submarine in any of the attacks. They do claim that the enemy was driven away and our two convoys plowed safely through once dangerous waters.

Walsh summed up the new order for Axis raiders by saying: "They may sink ships, but from now on they fight for every one they get."

For tactical reasons of his own Walsh on one occasion ignored

Mrs. David Smith Feted by Lovely Shower-Party

Mrs. Richard Ferneau, Mrs. Hubert Ferneau and Miss Vesta Marie Huffman combined hospitality to entertain with a lovely shower party, honoring Mrs. David D. Smith (Isabel Holden), a recent bride of Lt. Smith, formerly of Washington C. H., but now stationed at Brooks Field, San Antonio, Tex.

The delightful affair was held at the home of Mrs. Richard Ferneau, and included classmates and intimate friends of Mrs. Smith.

The early part of the evening was spent in playing games, with prizes awarded to Mrs. Edward Hoskins and Mrs. Lewis Gantz.

Following this the pretty guest of honor was invited to the dining room, where a large array of gifts, most attractive in their patriotic wrappings, were arranged on the dining table. She thanked each for the lovely gifts, which were both useful and ornamental.

Small tables seated the guests for the delicious collation served at the close of the evening. Red, white and blue were used in the decorations, and centering each table were miniature airplanes, a gesture toward Lt. Smith.

The young couple were married in Travis Methodist Church, San Antonio, Tex., on July 8, following Lt. Smith's graduation from the Gulf Coast Training Center, Brooks Field, Tex.

Their marriage was a double wedding ceremony, the other couple being Miss Virginia Van Warner and Lt. Norman T. Miller of Toledo, who is also stationed at Brooks Field.

The guests for the party were Miss Maggie Waldron, Miss Virginia Wilson, Mrs. Edward Hoskins, Mrs. Carl Theobald, of Washington C. H.; Miss Jean Patton of Greenfield; Mrs. Lewis Gantz, Miss La Vina Ford, Miss Leah Custer, Mrs. Elsa Holden, and the guest of honor, Mrs. David Smith, of Columbus.

Losing Members Of Bridge Club Give Luncheon

A delightful affair was held on Friday, when the losers in the Friday bridge club entertained the winners to a one o'clock luncheon at the Devins Party Home.

Mrs. H. G. Coffman, a member of the club, included an extra table of guests with the group, who were Mrs. Joseph Harper, Mrs. Hoy Simons, Mrs. Frank Jackson and Mrs. Stanley Paxson.

The spacious home was lovely in its numerous bouquets of flowers, attractively and effectively arranged. A delicious luncheon was served at the dining table, perfectly appointed.

For the bridge game awards, Victory Corsages were presented to Mrs. Hoy Simons and Mrs. Rose Hughey.

COMING FEATURES AT THE THEATERS

'THE MRS. MINIVER'... Henry Travers presents lovely Mrs. Miniver (Greer Garson) with a perfect rose which he has named after her in M-G-M's "Mrs. Miniver," coming at the Fayette Theatre, next Friday for a full week's run. Greer Garson co-stars with Walter Pidgeon in the film adapted from the best-seller by Jan Struther.

War forms the basic theme for most of the pictures booked by the Washington C. H. theaters next week. From romantic comedy in army camps to the bombing of families in their homes, the pictures run the gamut of wartime emotion. Several horror shows, a comedy and the roaring Westerns are also in evidence.

State Theater
Laugh-filled fable of a Yank in the RAF, who is forced to bail out over occupied Holland and finds himself in Dutch, in danger and in love, "The Flier Takes a Wife," is the first feature at the State Theater for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Lovely Joan Bennett is the wife; Franchot Tone is the flier. Break-neck action, fabulous adventure and thundering thrills are promised when the companion picture, "Atlantic Convoy," blazes onto the screen. Featuring Bruce Bennett, Virginia Fields and John Beal in the cast, the new thriller tells a dramatic story of Uncle Sam's flying Marines and the efforts to blast Axis subs out of the North Atlantic.

A double horror bill on Wednesday and Thursday opens with "The Strange Case of Dr. R. X.," featuring Atwill in a weird danger story of the gorilla-man. The second thriller is taken from Edgar Allan Poe's classic "The Mystery of Marie Reget" and stars Patric Knowles.

Three pictures are scheduled for Friday and Saturday. Bob Steele in a Western "Billy the Kid's Fighting Pals," a technicolor cartoon "Jasper and the Watermelon" and "Captain Midnight" in "Thunder Afloat."

Fayette Theater
A timely film "Wings for the Eagle," crammed with action, romance and excitement will open at the Fayette Theater on Sunday and continue through Monday. It features Ann Sheridan and Dennis Morgan in the top roles with an impressive supporting cast. The realistic setting is a huge Lockheed aircraft plant where the constant fight against time surpasses all personal conflict.

Comedy is the keynote of "Maise Gets her Man," the picture to be shown at the Fayette theater on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The film, which co-stars Ann Southern and Red Skelton, is the most successful of the series of Brooklyn born Maise. Although cast as a corny vaudeville comic, who doesn't quite make the grade, Skelton has never been funnier. An army camp sequence is one of the most hilarious scenes.

Opening on Friday, the picture "Mrs. Miniver," will be on the Fayette Theater for one full week. A story of high courage, devotion and abiding faith is this screen adaptation of Jan Struther's novel, in which Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon are teamed.

It is the story of an English woman of the middle class and her family, facing the terrors of war on the home front and carrying lie with valor in the face of air raids, attacks, grief and peril.

Palace Theater
These perennial favorites, the Eastside Kids, come to the Palace Theater on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday as the stars of their newest picture, "Smart Alecks," a rollicking comedy-drama which includes many exciting incidents. Four of the screen's original group of juvenile gangsters head the kids band and important roles are played by Maxie Rosenbloom and Gale Storm. Also to be shown is "Call out the Marines with the lousy jovin' Leathernecks, Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen.

There is rich comedy and deep pathos, heart-stirring action and great singing, humor and romance all generously mixed together in John Boles latest starring picture "Road to Happiness" to be shown Wednesday and Thursday at the Palace Theater.

There's a good slice of outstanding singing and a dramatic rendition of America by John Boles himself. The second picture "The Bandit Trail," featuring Tim Holt is the first of a series of diversified Westerns.

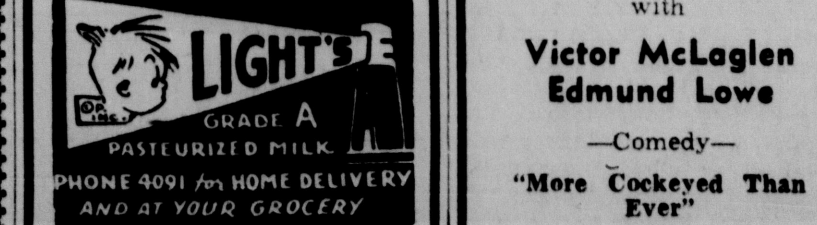

On Friday and Saturday, the Palace will show: Buck Jones and Tim McCoy "Riders of the West," Dick Tracey vs. Crime, Inc., and a Disney cartoon.

under a tent but in as much as the cattle exhibits did not use all the barn as was originally planned, the sheep exhibits were crowded into the lower end of the building. Even though the entry had not been pushed seventy sheep were shown with several exhibitors from out of the county.

The club in addition to the prize money given by the Fair Board presented the winner of the champion ram class in each breed owned in the county with a silver cup. J. N. Wain won in Shropshires, Paul White on Dwight Johnson's Southdown, G. B. Vance on Suffolk and Willard Bitzer on Dorsets.

The keenest interest was manifested in the champion pen of lambs in which each exhibitor showed four lambs, all breeds and grade lambs competing. A lovely cup with the image of a sheep on it was won by Willard Bitzer on a pen of four Dorset lambs. All cups must be won three times by the exhibitor to become their permanent property.

The Shepherd's Club not only is interested in the present status of sheep in this county but have put forth a special effort to do something about the future of the sheep industry in this section. Realizing that this can only be done satisfactorily by educating the younger generation they have promoted for the second year a 4-H lamb exhibit at the Fair and were gratified to see forty lambs shown by the boys and girls.

Each contestant received a book on "Fitting and Showing Sheep." The winner of the champion fat class was presented with a pure bred Suffolk ram donated by Mr. G. B. Vance a director of the club. To the 4-H leader with the greatest number of members making entries went a pure bred Shropshire ewe lamb, presented by Russell Beatty, president of the club. The winners of the fat lamb class under 75 pounds, over 75 pounds class and the breeding classes were each given a copy of W. C. Coffey's "Productive Sheep Husbandry."

All these trophies were presented by the Shepherd's Club. Mr. G. B. Vance had spent hours with a group of boys in high school all last winter and spring teaching them some of the fine points on the care of sheep. To prove that his time was not spent in vain, glance over some of the awards. First in fat lamb class under 75 lbs. was Charles Burris and in class over 75 lbs. was Roy Barton. In breeding classes, first in Southdowns, Charles Burris and in Dorsets first and second and champion to Randall Worthington. All these boys were of Mr. Vance's group together with several other winners on down the line. To complete his triumph, Paul Engle, also one of his group, won the ewe lamb for

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Wheat prices developed rallying power today as a result of buying attributed to mills and dealers covering previous short sales, advancing fractions from seasonal lows.

4-H leader with the greatest number of entries. The champion pair of fat lambs went to Rosalee Cocherill. It was learned later that she also won first on her pig. What a girl! What a girl!

The Fair is over but the members of the Shepherd Club are already making plans to hold the greatest sheep show ever staged in the county next year with the formal dedication of the new sheep barn. As the plans are completed they will be announced through this column.

The lamb pool of last Friday was the first one of the season which had not been rained out. Six hundred lambs were sold with Otto Schwartz one of the heavy consignors. Double blues brought $14.75, heavies and single blues, $14.00 and Red Dots $13.25. Next pool will be held August 14th.

RECORD NUMBER OF CATTLE SEEN FOR NEXT YEAR

Shortage of Beef in East, However, Holds Up Price For the Present

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—There will be approximately 77,000,000 head of cattle on farms and ranches at the beginning of 1943, the largest number on record, the Department of Agriculture estimated today in its review of the agricultural situation.

This would compare with 75,000,000 head at the start of 1942. Much of the increase will be in the great central plains.

The department said the 1942 calf crop was probably the largest on record—approximately 32,000,000 head as compared with 31,000,000 head in 1941 and 30,000,000 head in 1940.

Looking at the marketing situation, the department said large numbers of cattle which ordinarily would have been bought for further feeding were going to slaughter instead. This should result in a considerable increase in slaughter this August-November as compared with last year, the department prophesied.

Livestock men said that the practice of selling cattle without additional feeding meant that the tonnage obtained from such cattle would not be as great as if they had been fed. Also, trade sources said, they would not be of prime quality.

A sustained demand from eastern shippers—the beef shortage is more pronounced along the Atlantic seaboard than elsewhere—supported the cattle market this week. Better quality offerings were most in demand, advancing about 25 cents. Medium and low grades, however, lost about an equal amount.

After breaking sharply in reaction to the lowered price the Agricultural Marketing Administration will pay for lend-lease pork, hogs recovered somewhat later to close the week about 10 cents lower. Native and western spring lambs closed 15 to 25 cents higher.

PRODUCERS OF HOGS NOW IN POSITION TO JOCKEY WITH MARKET

price ceiling is likely and cost of putting on gains is steadily rising.

Nothing is predictable except that fed cattle are running out; visible supply of stockers and feeders is limited; that a heavy run of hogs impend following September, and the recent soup in the hog market made a lot of money for some body. Prices will be largely influenced by the caprices and machinations of the unreliable price fixing organization.

ers lashed at scattered points on the British east and northeast coasts, but preliminary reports indicated the attacks were not heavy.

Berlin broadcasts said the attacks were centered upon Hull. One enemy plane was reported downed.

The RAF assault on Germany last night was the fourth of the week and followed a day of intense aerial activity over the occupied French coast in which hundreds of British and German fighter planes fought bitter duels that continued until dusk.

The Air Ministry reported 11 Nazi planes—including three of the powerful new Focke-Wulf 190's—were shot out of the sky in these combats, while the British losses were put at eight aircraft.

Four of the enemy planes were credited to two American Eagle Squadron pilots—Flight Lieut. S. R. Eoner of San Jose, Calif., and Pilot Officer Barry Mahon of Santa Barbara, Calif.—who shot down two apiece.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin said of the wool market: "While the volume of business done on Summer Street this week has been far from voluminous, there has been a little better interest noted late in the week and some fair sales at good prices."

"Evidently, the government will not take over the balance of the 1942 clip, although it is certain that army specifications will be sufficiently broad to require all the domestic clip to be used in military fabrics. This has been seen this week in the specification of 56s quality wools in lease-lend fabrics."

The paper quoted these Ohio prices: Domestic fleeces—Delaine unwashed 46-48c; 1/2 blood combing 46-48c; 3/4 blood combing 49-50c; 1/4 blood combing 49-50c.
